ARRIVAL OF THE DANIEL WEBSTER AND EL DORADO AT NEW ORLEANS—NEARLY $3,000,000 ON THE WAY FOR NEW YORK.

The steamship Daniel Webster, from San Juan, Nicaragua, and the El Dorado, from Aspinwall, have arrived at this port, bringing California dates to the 15th May.

The passengers have arrived here in nineteen days and twenty hours from San Francisco.

The steamship Star of the West sailed from San Juan for New York on the 31st ult., with two hundred and fifty passengers and nearly one million and a half in treasure.

The steamship George Law left Aspinwall on the 31st ult., for New York, with the mail, passengers, and nearly a million and a half in gold dust.

The revolution in Nicaragua is reported to have been successful.

From Washington.

THE MISSION OF LORD ELGIN—HIS DEPARTURE FOR CANADA—THE NEGOTIATIONS WITH SPAIN.

WASHINGTON, June 6, 1854.

Lord Elgin left town this morning, Mr. Hicks having preceded him. It is understood that a project has been drawn up, subject to the approval of the Provincial authorities on the one hand, and the Senate, of course, on the other, by which the fishery and reciprocity questions are settled. England has got pretty much all she demanded, except the provision providing that colonial built vessels shall be entitled to American registers. It remains to see whether the Senate will confirm a one-sided treaty. The general impression is that it will be out even more than the Golden Convention was.

There is a rumor here that Mr. May and Mr. Buchanan are about changing places. We doubt it, notwithstanding Mr. Buchanan's confidence in Mr. Forney, and the wish of the latter to have his patron in the Cabinet. That Mr. May is desirous of getting out of a Cabinet where he has lost all influence, and is treated with no sort of respect, is well known.

No one here believes the report that Spain is willing to accede to Cuba. As far back as the administration of Mr. Polk, Spain was offered one hundred million dollars for Cuba, and would not listen to the proposition. As long as the Cortes exists there is little probability that Spain will listen to any such proposition.

THIRTY-THIRD CONGRESS.

The Boston Fugitive Slave Rioters.

Boston, June 6, 1854.

The result of the examination of the parties arrested in the fugitive slave riot, before the police court, is as follows:—Bishop, Stowell, Jackson, and Morrison fully committed, without bail, for the murder of Batcher. Brown, Wesley and Phenix held in three thousand dollars bail each for riot. Cluer, Howe and Hopewell discharged. Thompson and Roberts were held for further examination, but will probably be discharged.

The traffic is always left for the people of the States. Now if the people of the Territories are capable of legislating upon every question involving the well-being of the white man, are they not also capable of legislating for the benefit of the colored man? (Cheers.) I do not think it requires any higher intellectual power to make laws for the negro than for the white man. (Great cheering.) Let us not be misled by the sneering and sneaking of themselves on the subject of slavery, who should give them power to make laws for anything at all. The abolitionists tell you that the proper way is to give the people of the Territories power to make all the laws for the white man, but none for the colored man. Now I say that we should maintain and support our principles consistently, and that what is good enough for white is good enough for negroes. (Cheers.) Now, my friends, there is another reason why this Nebraska bill should pass. I need not say of your transparency to night; this motto: "Black line shall be drawn across our country." (Cheers.) I rejoice to see that banner here, borne as it is upon the shoulders of freemen. We are a great and glorious republic composed of thirty-one free and independent States, and each bearing a close relation to each other as sisters. As sisters they should ever be united. Let us not be misled by the sneering and sneaking of themselves on the subject of slavery, who should give them power to make laws for anything at all.
